As part of our information and referral service, the Alzheimer's Association can tell you about various community resources, which may be helpful in planning for care. Although we neither endorse nor recommend a particular community resource, we will make suggestions to families in response to their requests for information on local programs and services. Geographic location, availability, family preference, and the uniqueness of each situation are taken into consideration when providing referral information.

The association advises you to check with your primary physician before selecting a specific evaluation program and confirm that you have the appropriate medical insurance coverage for that program. Some of these programs may have extensive waiting periods for appointments.
